Great Religious Work Will Be

Every Person in Richmond Will Be Asked to Answer

A second call for volunteer census-takers, issued from the pulpits of a Richmond yesterday morning, brought forth results most gratifying to Census Director Durham, the man who is engineering the gigantic task of recording Richmond's population according to religious preference. It is believed by Mr. Durham that 5,000 visitors will be enlisted by to-night when the final meeting for instructions will be held. The main auditorium of the First Baptist Church will be thrown open for workers from every section of the city, to be addressed by Mr. Durham. John Garland Pollard, chairman of the central committee, and other leaders of the movement.

while the city was still gasping from the announcement that a census of Richmond's population would be taken within two hours of the afternoon of Tuesday, May 28, Mr. Durham gave out that the plans had been changed and the census would be taken within a single hour. Few people were able to believe this at first, but with the publication of the army which is to assist in the undertaking, credence displaced skepticism, and the doubter got ready to put his shoulder to the

All Churches Gladly Join.

Never in the history of Richmond has there been a religious movement that has enlisted the support and cooperation of every race, faith and creed as this plan of census taking has, and the result will probably be permanently felt in the religious life of the city. Once the men of the central committee perceived that the plan was actually nonsectarian and undenominational, that no church or faith was to be ignored, but all were to benefit according to the work they put into the movement, all churches threw themselves into the work with a spirit of fellowship that has never been witnessed here.

The meeting to-night will be the final gathering of workers before the actual census taking is done to-morrow afternoon. Judging from the attendance and interest shown at the meetings last week, a crowd will far surpass the capacity of the chapel. Church will then take part in this service. The colored workers met Saturday night in the First African Baptist Church for their final instructions, and the committee in charge of this feature of the campaign.

In this morning's mail the 5,000 visitors will receive their assignments from the various section supervisors.

of the nineteen census districts. The visitors will go in pairs, and will not be permitted to exert any activity aside from the actual recording of the five questions to be asked of each person. The business section of the city will not be included in the census district, the field of operations being continued to the residential portion of town.

NOTHING IS HIDDEN

ALL Things Must Be Revealed and All Sins Laid Bare.

"The First Five Minutes After Death was the title that Dr. H. D. C. MacLachlan gave last night to a sermon which dealt in a daring and unaccustomed way with the problem of telepathy and thought-reading as they touch the final revelation of sin and the all things modern. Proceeding on the well-founded hypothesis that in the transition of death, all minds become sensitive to the thought waves of the universe, the preacher deduced that in these supreme moments there will be a clearness of vision which will reveal the innermost secrets of men.

len, "has enabled us to see in a different sort of way how this sort of thing is possible. Thought-reading, or telepathy as it is called, has at last come to be recognized in a scientific light."

Under given conditions mind can read mind. Ideas can be transmitted from soul to soul without the aid of signs or words. This is the new wireless telegraphy of the soul, far more wonderful even than that of Marconi.

"And the scientists are further suggesting to us, at least as a possibility

... explanation of the facts, that just as light consists in waves of ether beating upon the retina of the eye, so may thought consist of thought waves, differing vastly in magnitude and motion from those of light, but performing the same office of intercommunication between man and man.'

ALLEGED BURGLAR
Negro Accused of Entering the Kolne
Flour Mills.
John L. Johnson, alias Joseph Scott was arrested yesterday on a warrant charging him with entering the Kolber Flour Mills, on the Hermitage Road, and stealing an oil pump and a lubricator. While Johnson says that he is not guilty of the crime and will be able to establish a strong alibi, he was identified by a junk dealer as having sold him the property for a few cents. He was arrested by Officers Kraft, Smith and Gibson and locked up at the Second Police Station.

CHILDREN TO SEE
'THE PRINCE CHAP'

Coupon in The Times-Dispatch and Ten Cents Will Admit
Them to Matinee

Just to show the children that they are not overlooked, Miss Lucille LaVerne has arranged a special matinee for their benefit at the Academy of Music on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, when "The Prince Chap," by Edward Peple, formerly of Richmond, will be presented. One of the bright stars in the cast this week is Lena Culpeper, a little Richmond girl, whose brother made such a tremendous hit a week ago in "Mother." There will be printed in The Times-Dispatch on Wednesday morning a coupon which will admit any child to the performance for 10 cents added. They can cut the coupon out when the paper reaches their home on Wednesday, and 10 cents is all they charge for the picture shows, so the young artists can go for nothing.

Of course, there may be more than one child in the home who will want to see "The Prince Chap," so it will be necessary to clip the coupon from a neighbor's paper and get two dimes instead of one from the old man.

"I really believe the children will enjoy Mr. Peep's play," said Miss La Verne yesterday, "and they will enjoy the fine work of those little children in the play. Besides, 'The Prince Chap' is so clean and wholesome that they ought to see it, and I am glad this coupon arrangement has been made. By starting the matinee at 3 o'clock they will have time to go home for dinner after school. I am sure they will enjoy it, and it will be interesting to the parents. They will enjoy it like the children."

As stated above the coupon will be printed in The Times Dispatch, on Wednesday. It will not appear in other issues.

"The Prince Charming" will be presented at the Academy to-night and all the week.
